

What type of fireplace does your home have?

Masonry

- Fireplace opening has no metal within the opening
- Glass doors, if present, typically overlap opening
- Chimney exterior typically constructed of brick
- Top of brick chimney has square or rectangular flu tile or cap

Zero Clearance

- Fireplace opening may have metal louvers/grills on top and bottom
- Typically have inside fit glass doors
- Chimney exterior or "chase" typically constructed of siding to match home
- Top of chase has round metal chimney pipe or square metal cover visible

The type of fireplace you currently have will help us guide you to an insert product that is perfect for your project.